Find Your Earning Potential with LinkedIn Salary

LinkedIn Salary is a tool that provides detailed breakdowns of salary by job title and location.

Overview

LinkedIn Salary acts as a free resource for users to obtain job salary insights and understand the various factors that impact pay for roles so they can make more informed career decisions. The tool shares salary insights for specific job titles, and the different factors that impact pay scale: location, years of experience, industry, company size, and education level. LinkedIn also uses this data to provide personalized features and recommendations.

Types of Insights Available on LinkedIn Salary

On LinkedIn Salary, you can find aggregate salary information and trends that can help you better understand how your salary compares to others in the same or similar role, and to explore salaries for other roles and locations as well.

After you enter your salary details, you'll be able to view what members earn on average for a specific role and city, broken down by:

- Base salary
- Total compensation
- Additional compensation such as annual bonus or sign on bonus

You can use the Industry and Years of Experience filters to learn how these factors impact pay for a given title.

In addition, you'll also see the following, based on the type of data available:

- Company salaries: Dive into company level insight pages to explore how salaries vary at different companies.
- Factors that may impact salary: Learn how certain factors such as company size, industry, education level, and field of study can impact your salary for a given title in a region.
- Top-paying locations: Discover which locations pay the most for a title, and see the number of job openings there.
- Open jobs: We'll also show you current open jobs for your role and location that have been posted on LinkedIn.
Getting Started

To build this data, we're requesting that users first submit their salary information. When submitting one’s salary, they can also add additional compensation details such as a sign-on bonus or company shares provided.

Premium Features for LinkedIn Salary

While all LinkedIn members have access to LinkedIn Salary, Premium members get instant access to unique features without having to share their own salary. These include:

1. Salary estimates on job postings. They’ll see estimates of base salary and total compensation for the role at that company based on data provided by LinkedIn members.
2. An estimated salary search filter on the job search page that lets you filter job postings by base salary and total compensation.
