Roar to the Poll

The event series as a whole proved to be a great success. However, here is a quick
The first event for Roar to the Poll was an interactive workshop hosted by Engage Miami. The objective of this workshop was to educate the FIU community on the voting process, registration forms and to get them thinking about the issues they are passionate about. Miami-Dade County Elections Department was on-site helping students register to vote and updating voter information. We had a wonderful turnout and believed it was a great way to kick off our event series!

The second event for Roar to the Poll was an open event by the kissing bridge. We were able to meet and discuss the heart behind our event with multiple students and faculty members. Students had the opportunity to create buttons that stated what they were passionate about, consequently prompting them to vote in the elections. Engage Miami as well as other organizations on campus came out to engage with the student body.

Our final event was held on Voter Appreciation Day. Therefore, it was a double celebration - celebrating those who vote and celebrating the end of a very successful event series! We gave out pizza and giveaways and are grateful to all of the students who stopped by! We want to give a special thank you to Sabrina Rosell, Lobbying Coordinator, who spearheaded the event and along with the SGA team lead it to success. Thank you to all the students that came out and registered to vote!

We hope to see you at the polls letting your ROAR be heard!
It’s on Us is a national movement that aims at shifting the way that we address and think about sexual assault. Since its inception by President Barack Obama and Vice President Joe Biden in September 2014, over 275,000 people have taken the pledge to help end sexual assault primarily on college campuses.

This fall, Student Government Association has joined our campus’s ongoing efforts to counteract sexual violence on our college campus. You too can be a part of this movement by participating in our weekly events and signing the petition. In addition to the many events we hope you will join us for, we the people of the FIU community would be honored to have Vice President Joe Biden visit our campus to speak about the It’s on Us campaign. It is because of leaders like Joe Biden and the hard work of

This fall, SGA decided to host an "SGA Week." We serve as an avenue of advocacy for students, therefore, we wanted to give students the opportunity to meet the SGA officials that represent them and to learn about the inner workings of their student government and its branches.

We started off the week with our "Meet your Dean" event. Many students came out to meet and engage in conversation with the representatives of their respective colleges. By coming out to the event, students were given the opportunity to voice any questions or concerns.

On Wednesday, as part of our collaboration with the It's on Us campaign, we had a representative from CAPS come speak to our students about what truly constitutes sexual assault.
communities dedicated to positive change that our country continues to prosper and move in a direction for the benefit of all. Therefore, if you can please take the time to sign our petition to #BringBiden2FIU, we would greatly appreciate it!

Remember that “It’s on Us, on All of Us” to make a change in the community.

On Thursday, we held our last event of the week, which was "Know Your Rights." Many students found this event particularly interesting and were interactive engaging in discussion. Judge Altfield came to speak to us about the rights we have on and off campus, such as due process, search and seizure, and gun rights.

We would like to thank everyone who came out to the events and we hope you enjoyed them!

Did You Know?

Did you know that there are many vegetarian and vegan options on campus? With such a diverse array of students on campus, Panther Dining wants to make sure that there is a food option for everyone! Most food vendors on campus have specific vegetarian and vegan items. For a complete list of vegetarian and vegan options on campus click here.
