TEAM ROPES ADVENTURE CHALLENGE

TRAC is Florida International University's Ropes/Challenge Course and Experiential Learning Center. Located on FIU's Biscayne Bay Campus, TRAC features a complete low and high ropes facility. Our clients include national and regional corporations, non-profit organizations, schools and youth groups. Exceptional value is seen by participants regardless of age, physical ability, education or experience. A key component is designing programs that fit your group's specific needs, characteristics and purpose.

Beyond teaching and learning, TRAC at FIU is a resource for the community.

While courses are planned as full day, half day, or multi-day programs, we can accommodate almost any scheduling request. We supply water and sun screen to everyone. There are several local food options, or TRAC can provide meals and snacks with our delicious catering options.

TRAC's primary facility is a short walk from The Wolfe University Center, which houses a variety of meeting rooms and the Recreation & Aquatic Centers. The course is adjacent to the Kovens Conference Center, a modern convention and banquet facility. Both facilities are available to enhance your experience.

Team assessment, leadership, trust, communication, transfer of information, and conflict resolution are some of the many concepts addressed during TRAC programs. Results include creating and maintaining effective group interaction and a real sense of personal accomplishment.

Ropes – Climbing is one tool among many used on a challenge course. Some climb to the top; others do not climb at all. The higher initiatives are presented as team events, impactful whether one touches the ladder or not.

Adventure for some, means enjoying nature. FIU's Biscayne Bay Campus is perfectly located for our kayaking program, integrating team dynamics with a day on the bay!

Challenge is everywhere. TRAC provides a safe, controlled environment for challenge, facilitated by a professional staff that is committed to a worthwhile experience.
